

Josephine

Music by Christian Willisohn

Lyrics by Alexandra Mayer

Josephine what have you done to me I'm no more the man I used to be.
it took me long to realize that you're the devil in disguise.

Josephine it's time to let it be I was just the one too blind to see now I beg and I pray
won't you go away

*I took you out to fancy restaurants
I bought you shiny pearls and diamonds.
but what I got now in the end was that letter that you sent.*

Josephine you broke my heart into I was just a little fool for you now I beg Lord and I pray
won't you go away

*You said you did not love me any more and with my present you were really bored.
all that money that I spent you said you'd keep it in the end.*

Josephine the beauty and the beast my poor heart it needs to be released.
now I beg, Lord, and I pray
won't you go away.
