

The man in your life

Music by Christian Willisohn
Lyrics by Alexandra Mayer

When I was a young boy
I was sure he'd treat you right.
When I was a young boy
I was sure he'd treat you right.
But then I changed my mind
When I heard you cry at night.

You told me that you loved him
I saw those bruises in your face
You told me that you loved him
I saw those bruises in your face.
To show his love to you
There are many better ways.

Then I was growing older
And my hate was growing too.
I really couldn't stand this man
Breakin' your heart into.

I was old enough one day
And then I took my 44.
Just a little moment mama
He won't hurt you anymore.

Wonder why she's so sad now
She wouldn't talk to me no more.
When I just killed the man
Who 'd killed her heart before.